NATURE AND LANDSCAPE

Contribute to maintaining the natural balance by staying on the marked trails. Walking or cycling outside of these trails can upset the biological balance.

Respect wild animals and their habitat. When visiting their natural habitat, keep a reasonable distance and avoid feeding. Treat domesticated animals with the same respect.

Express romance respectfully – without trampling the grass or picking the flowers. Flowering meadows are important pastures for native Slovenian bees, key pollinators of our environment.

ENVIRONMENT AND CLIMATE

While exploring new places in Radlje ob Dravi use public transport and explore them on foot or by bike.

The water in Radlje ob Dravi is clean and drinkable everywhere. Use a refillable bottle and avoid buying plastic bottles to reduce waste.

Help preserve the wealth of water resources by choosing a short shower instead of a bath and closing the faucet while brushing your teeth.

Separate the waste and dispose of it in designated places. When exploring natural areas, take garbage, including cigarette butts, to the next settlement.

Try to reduce the amount of waste produced, especially single-use plastics. Use cloth bags, refill the water bottle several times, and order a drink without a straw.

Select environmentally friendly soaps and cosmetics that do not harm sensitive ecosystems.

Help contribute to energy savings by refusing to change towels and cleaning the room. Turn off the lights and air conditioning when you don't need them.

CULTURE AND TRADITION

Respect the locals and their culture. Do not intrude into their personal space or photograph them without permission.

Learn a few basic slovene phrases and put a smile on your host's face. Hello = dober dan, thank you = hvala, How are you = kako ste, this is very good – this is very good.

Taste the richness of koroška cuisine and support local farmers with a selection of typical dishes in Koroška, made from seasonal local ingredients.

Buy locally. Support local artisans and artists by showing their admiration or buying their work. Choose handmade souvenirs instead of mass-produced ones.

When in Radlje ob Dravi, visit traditional events and festivals that will bring you closer to Slovenian customs, traditions, and culture.
